SELF- REFLECTION FOR CONFLICT PROFESSIONALS

GARY FRIEDMAN and NORMAN FISCHER

FEAR AND TRUST

The Center for Understanding in Conflict will be offering a four-day intensive program in Talloires, France, from August 29th pm through September 2nd, noon, in Self-Reflection and it's relevance to working as a professional to help people in conflict. The focus will be on Fear and Trust.

This program in self-reflection will focus on the powerful role that fear and trust play in our stance as conflict professionals. We will begin by investigating the powerful and pervasive presence of fear and the many ways in which it limits trust.

What is trust and what role does it play in our work?

Who or what do we trust?

How far can trust go, how can we develop it within ourselves, share it with the parties and foster it in them?

There will be a significant amount of meditation and role-plays during the program. All conflict professionals are welcome to attend, including mediators, lawyers, therapists and anyone who works with people in conflict. Please kindly note that this training will be in English only.

Location: Prieuré de Talloires, on the Lake of Annecy (Tufts University European Center), 45 minutes from Geneva.

Fees: 1250 € for 4 days of training (30 hours), coffee breaks, lunches and materials

We have negotiated special room rates for participants at the newly renovated lakeside Hôtel Beau Site, a 5-minute walk from the Prieuré. We strongly encourage all participants to reserve a room there to take advantage of these great rates that include a generous buffet breakfast. Five room types are available:
